

Helping Hurricane Victims

Kingdom International Economic Development Corp (KIEDC) from East Hartford is sponsoring a collection of food, clothing and household goods from their communities around the United States. They will be bringing the supplies to Houston to assist the victims of Hurricane Harvey. Their mission is to go direct, giving the food, clothing and household goods to the victims personally. This year due to the unfortunate events and thousands of people being affected in Houston, KIEDC is expanding their outreach to include the STA community.

St. Thomas the Apostle School is joining KIEDC in this effort by becoming a drop-off center on Thursday, 9/21, Curriculum Night beginning at 6:45PM.

While our storage space is limited but we will be accepting:

- Bagged children's clothing for ages of Pre-K through Grade 5
- Diapers
- Bottled water
- No money or household goods will be accepted, please.

We are also seeking parent volunteers to transport the collection to the local receiving station on Friday, 9/22. The time and place will be announced.

This is a time of great need, the likes of which we rarely see in New England. Any contributions of goods or transportation will be appreciated.
